It is the tuneful "Iolanthe," written by Gilbert and Sullivan in 1882 and produced by D'Oyle Carte at the Savoy Theater, London, and the Standard, New York, in November of that year. Aside logue, all being largely a satire on the English peerage, the music which Sullivan introduced into this opera was instantly recognized as among the best that composer ever turned out. The songs became popular from the first and the opera had successful runs in this country and England, afterwards being given with great success in Australia. The principal comedy character was that of the Lord Chancellor, which Mr. Edward P. Temple will play. It was in the great Lord Chancellor's song in the last act that Gilbert, recognizing the bicycle, which in that day had attained a craze in England as well as in this country, had the Lord Chancellor "crossing Sallsbury Plain on a bicycle." This was in the days of the old "ordinary" before the modern safety and pneumatic tires were

The boy, coming to maturity, fell in love with a girl whose charms hypnotized the peers and this furnished the ground plan for all the fun which Gilbert selected to poke at the august body of peers in his opera. OGNIZE THE SILVER "PUSH."

So This District at Chicago Will Be Represented by the Bridges-Buskirk Combination.

that has arisen between the gold and silver factions of his party, in this county, and has made an abortive effort to compromise it. It seems that on Friday afternoon the Governor called into consultation Sterling R. Holt, chairman of the State committee, representing the gold side of it, Allen W. Clark, of Greensburg, representing the silver side, and Will E. English, of this city, originally a gold man, but who is suffiwas so instructed. Mr. English had had a previous consultation with the Governor unfolded the plan, which was to have a committee of ten upon each side appointed with power to act, which should agree upon some sort of a compromise Mr. Clark said he was willing, and was sure the local silver men would be willing. to come to an amicable agreement to split the contested delegation. Mr. Holt expresses a willingness to do so, but asked who the committee should be on each side.

"Well," replied Mr. English, "we would want level-headed, conservative men. From the sound-money side I would suggest such men as Taggart, Kern, Holt, Wilson and men of that character. On the other side I would suggest Cooper-let's see-Cooper-I guess we would have some trouble fixing This ended the conference. The idea of finding ten "level-headed, conservative" men among the "push" was so preposterous that it was given up. Mr. Bailey made a further effort in this direction at the meeting of the free-silver delegates and contestants Friday night, when he suggested that a steering committee of ten be apointed, but his suggestion was turned down in the meeting. It was stated in that meeting that the Seventh district meeting of delegates for the selection of delegates to Chicago and members of the standing committees of the State convention would be held on Wednesday morning. This was the line of compromise that Governor Mat-thews and Clark had in mind. The rest of thews and Clark had in mind. The rest of the districts hold their meetings on Tuesday night, and the idea was to have the committee on credentials do its work Tuesday night, and by the time it got through the silver people would have a majority of the Seventh district's delegates. They were to agree to elect Mr. English as one of the delegates to Chicago, and expected to make C. M. Cooper the other delegate. to make C. M. Cooper the other delegate.

The sound-money people are not likely to agree to any such deal. On the face of the returns they have eighty of the Marion county delegates. Unless they change their minds the meeting will be held at the same time the other district meetings occur, that is at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. Mr. Taggart, as chairman of the district, will Taggart, as chairman of the district, will call the meeting to order and will recognize only such delegates as hold official credentials. At the suggestion of the Matthews people, the Sentinel of yesterday, in publishing the official call for the district meetings, left out that for the Seventh.

"I issued the call for the Seventh district," said Chairman Holt when asked about this, "to meet at the Criminal Court room at the same time that the other districts meet on Tuesday evening. If they intend to make any change the matter will lie with Mr. Taggart, the district chairman. It is now out of my hands."

"I have nothing to do," said Mr. Taggart when approached on the question, "but to follow the call as sent to me. The Seventh district meeting will be held at the Criminal Court room at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening."

It looks as if this puts an end to the Governor's plan of a compromise as well as to the aspirations of Mr. Cooper to represent this district at Chicago. This information was apparently conveyed to the Governor's private secretary about noon, for shortly afterwards he said, rather glumly, that he understood that it was Taggart's intentions to call the meet-

"I don't think we'll go into that meeting Tuesday evening," said Tim Griffin, one of the leaders of the "push," when told what the decision of the "goldbugs" was, and the rest of the free-silverites seemed to be of the same mind, but they will make no deisive announcement on the subject until the steering committee named at Friday night's meeting can meet again and decide upon a plan of action. This committee met in the Lieutenant Governor's room at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, but as there was still hope of effecting a compromise, the committee did nothing further than to put in shape such testimony as it has upon the trickery used by the "goldbugs" at Tuesday night's primaries. The outlook is that separate district meetings will be held next Tuesday night by the gold and silver delegates from the Seventh district and they gates from the Seventh district and they will carry their troubles before the State convention. The delegates selected at the convention. The delegates selected at the district meeting to attend the Chicago convention will have to be confirmed by the State convention and there is where the "push" will get the best of it, for the free-silver delegates will be confirmed.

Upon the receipt of Mr. Taggart's ultimatum, the Governor did not give up hope of carrying his point, but at once began upon a plan to have the other districts hold their meetings at 4 o'clock Tuesday aftertheir meetings at 4 o'clock Tuesday afterdentials might get at the Marion county contests before the meeting of the Seventh district. In this he is not likely to succeed for it would necessitate the delegates from all over the State coming in earlier and he would have either to persuade Chairman Holt to change the time of his call or get all the other members of the State committee to disregard the regular call and con-sent to make this change, and neither Holt nor the members of the committee are likely to assist in any plan to give the silver-ites control of this district. "The thing that makes the Governor so anxious on this subject." said one of his friends yesterday, "is because the real purpose of the gold bugs is to elect John Frenzel a delegate from this district and he wouldn't do a thing to the Matthews boom if he should be successful. That is what they have been working on all the time.

Albert Lieber and all the allied liquor interests are as much anti-Matthews as they are for gold. The thing that makes them hate him so is the moral support he gave the Nicholson bill when it was being fought over in the Legislature and his prompt approval of the measure when it came before him for signature. Matthews understands well enough that if Frenzel is made a delegate he will have one tireless and relentless enemy in the delegation, who might vote for him under instructions, but would use the knife upon him at every opportunity.' SOUND-MONEY ULTIMATUM.

Kern and English Must Be the Chicago Delegates.

The leaders of the sound-money men held a little conference at the Grand last night rion county delegation before the district meeting. In order to meet Governor Matthews half way, Mr. Frenzel withdrew his name from consideration as a possible dele-gate from the district to Chicago, and the conference decided upon John W. Kern and W. E. English as the delegates. While both are sound-money men, both are strong personal friends of the Governor. was his personal choice as delegate before the currency fight became so acute, and Kern has frequently been called into consultation in regard to the organization of the general Matthews Club. This deal will leave out Cooper, Bailey and other aspirants for the honor on the silver side, and does not give the "push" much of a chance to tell "how we killed a b'ar," but the sound-money people have the whip hand, and this is their ultimatum. While there is a little doubt that these two men would be perfectly satisfactory to the Governor himself, it is very doubtful if he can whip his wild cohorts into line for it. The "push" has set its heart upon having one of these delegates for its very own, and the Governor knows by experience that when the silver people set their hearts upon anything they do not let their conideration for him stand in the way of getting it or have a bad row. SHIVELY FOR GOVERNOR.

unquestionably be inserted in the plat-form. There the certainty ends. About three weeks ago a little meeting of party leaders, or men who thought they were party leaders, was held. It was agreed to nominate as much of the '94 ticket as would accept nomination, and all the gentlemen who were on that ticket except Captain Myers and Judge Rhinehart con-sented to accept. It was then regarded as settled that the old ticket would again be in the field. It was regarded as a sure thing that Fanning would be the candidate for Auditor, Morgan Chandler for Treasurer and Marion Griffith for Attorney-general. These men had up to this time been identified with the gold faction of the party, and the men who agreed that they should be renominated were gold men, who did not yet realize the fact that they were no longer bossing the machine. It soon developed that these gentlemen had been counting without their host. Within the ranks of the "push," not only in Marion county, but throughout the State, there has developed a spirit of intolerance that makes for the exclusion of all who do not throw up their hats and howl for silver. They have no particular use for converts who come over to the silver side simply for the purpose of accept-ing nomination. Moreover, they want a whack at the offices themselves. It has come to pass that Allen W. Clark, king of the "push," is willing to be named for Treasurer, that C. W. Bridges, who acts as subking in this district, yearns for the same honor, that Jerome Herff, of Peru, and two or three others are after the auditorship, while several patriots are will-ing to be sacrificed as candidates for At-It has been stated several times that the silver leaders have practically agreed upon a ticket with Shively as Governor and various other combinations according Evidence accumulated yesterday that the springing of the resolution indorsing Bridges for Treasurer of State upon the meeting of the silver delegates, Friday night, was by no means a surprise to that gentleman nor his friend Romus Stuart. These worthles made a visit to Greenfield Friday afternoon in order to run Morgan Chandler off the track. They called at his bank and at his house, but did not find him at either place, and came home disappointed. Chandler himself came to the city yesterday and engaged head-quarters for the convention at the Grand Hotel. He proposes to make a fight for the nomination, no matter if the "push" is

STATEMENT OF MR. COLBERT RE-FUTED BY THE RECORDS.

Has Made Only Ten Arrests in Three and a Half Months for Liquor Law Violations.

In an interview in Saturday's Journal Superintendent Colbert made a statement that more arrests for violations of the iquor laws had been made in any three months during his administration than during the three months the Nicholson law was in force under his predecessor. He made the statement emphatic by declaring that there had been a third more arrests in his favor. The docket of the Police Court contains the following records of persons appearing before that court on charges of violating the liquor laws during the Nicholson law was in force:

July 3-Sam Dinnin, keeping music box July 5-Phil Zapf, violating liquor law. July 6-Jesse Wilhite, selling liquor to July 8-Anna Kluge, selling liquor without a license and selling on Sunday. July 16-Henry Willert, selling on Sun-

There were actually arrested eighteen persons and there were few attempts at violation of the law and those who did make the attempt usually had the opportunity of making an explanation to Judge Stubbs. During the last three and a half months under Superintendent Colbert there have been but ten arrests for violation of the liquor laws. In March and April there were none and in the months of May and

June the records show the following cases: May 11-Chris. Ellerkamp, selling on May 19-John McGinty, violating Section 2 of the Nicholson law. May 23-M. M. Scott, violating Section 3 of the Nicholson law. May 25-Alois Henn, selling on Sunday. June 1-R. S. Pursley, violating Section 3

June 14-Phil McGuire, selling after 11 o'clock and selling without a license. This is a total of ten arrests in three and a half months. The arrest of McGuire grew out of the robbery of Frank Toland in Tron's saloon, a case which the police could not overlook. Dinnin notified the police that he was open, and his arrest could not well be avoided. In the cases of Green, Matz and Zapf it is claimed by other saloon keepers that the arrests were made as a part of the warfare of the Indianapolis Brewing Company against outside breweries. All three men handle outside beer and the charge is that Superintendent Colbert cannot forget the friendly relations which existed between him and the Indianapolis Brewing Company during the two years he gave up his position as Police Su-peintendent to George W. Powell. He was in the employ of the syndicate during those This comparison shows how well Super-Intendent Colbert and his men are enforcing the law against illegal sales of liquor. It explains in some measure also the meaning of his statement that no change of policy would be made by the police depart-ment on account of the decision of the Su-preme Court that the Nicholson law is a valid and constitutional law.

COMPANY OVER OBJECTIONS.

Representatives Refuse to Answer Questions and the Board Takes the Matter in Its Own Hands.

The members of the County Board of Review had a round with representatives of the Indiana Manufacturing Company yesterday morning, in which the board came out the victor. Joseph K. Sharpe, secretary of the company, and Chester Bradford, attorney, appeared for the company. Two years ago the board placed the assesswhich was stated to be on the value of patents owned by the company. The matter was taken to the federal court and an injunction, restraining the board from forever assessing the value of the company's patents, was issued. This decision was rendered last year, a short time before the meeting of the board. The board then assessed the company at the same figure-$36,000-but stated that it was on the capital stock of the company in excess of the value of patents. The secretary claims that the capital stock, which amounts to $36,000 was issued in payment of the patents owned by the company and therefore not assessable, and that the only property that is assessable is the tangible personal and real estate of the company. The examination of the case yesterday was very spirited. A part of it is given: Auditor Smith-Has there been any transfer of stock during the last year? Mr. Sharpe-Yes. Auditor Smith-Are you willing to tell the board the value of the stock-the price at which it was transferred? Sharpe-I am not.

Smith-In other words you refuse to give my information other than as to your tangible property? Sharpe-Yes, sir. Smith-I move that the assessment of the ndiana Manufacturing Company be made $36,000 on its capital stock, exclusive of all patent rights and non-taxables. Bradford (interrupting before the vote could be taken-I have-Smith-Will you be sworn, Mr Bradford-I have no sworn statement to make. I want to give the gentlemen of opinion in assessing this com-actual tangible property that you are in contempt of the United States Court and if you desire to take chances on that sort of thing, this company has nothing more to Treasurer Schmidt-Do you mean to say by that statement that this board has not the right to question as to the value of the capital stock of this company? Bradford—I mean to say just that thing, under the decision of the Supreme Court.

Treasurer Schmidt—Is it not a fact that the decision of the court was to the effect that the assessment of $36,000 was made against the stock issued for the patents and could not be assessed? Bradford-I do not think it is becoming of me to repeat the decision of the court, for it is a matter of record. Mr. Schmidt-As a matter of fact this decision was based upon the assessment of stock that was issued for the patents—the point I am trying to arrive at (and this poard does not want to get into any controversy with you or Mr. Sharp, or the United States courts) is that this board has a right to assess this property at $36,000, exclusive of patents-Bradford (interrupting)-I say they have Schmidt (continuing as if there had been no interruption)-Basing their assessment upon the value of the stock. There has been some sold and Mr. Sharpe would not state for what it was sold. Auditor Smith's motion, placing the assessment at $36,000, was then carried. No organization based on such lines could ever meet the widespread success and permanency that has marked the career of the Shrine. The lessons taught in its work are pregnant with morality and truth. The Imperial Council, the governing body of the Shrine, begins its twenty-second annual session at Cleveland to-morrow and fez-decked Arabs from all parts of the United States will be in attendance. These Occidental descendants of the hordes of the desert have abandoned the flowing burnous and parti-colored turban for street wear and now uniform themselves in a dress suit and bright red fez. The emblem of the order is a star and crescent dependent from a naked scimiter. The sacred bird of the Shrine is the camel. The camels of Murat Temple are, unfortunately, all in the wash this week and the caravan will be compelled to either walk or take the train for Cleveland. It is said that John T. Brush and Chalmers Brown have decided to go through on their wheels. R. O. Hawkins and W. H. As the caravan is due to errive in Cleveland at 1:50 a. m., no arrangements have been made for sleeping cars. It is expected that the hours of travel will be devoted to polemic discussion of scientific and philosophical subjects. On the arrival of the caravan at Cleveland the nobles will repair to the headquarters of the Temple at the Weddell House, where they will sit in Oriental silence, puffing the fragrant chibouk and awaiting the moment when the muezzin shall proclaim the dawn of day. When Indianapolis was made a member of the Grand Circuit Buffalo dropped out on account of the stringent law in New York against pool selling. An open week was left, however, between the meeting here and that at New York city to be taken by Buffalo or any point between here and New York. Buffalo has refused, how-ever, to accept this date. Mr. Graves thinks he can account for this trick. C. J. and Harry Hamlin, proprietors of the Vil-lage farm and leading horsemen at Buffalo.

BOARD WINS A VICTORY last year and swore vengeance. Mr. Graves thinks this is their method of "getting even." The races here cannot be affected by the action of Buffalo, as this meeting is held as a part of the Grand Circuit, while that at Buffalo is independent of all circuits and must depend upon the popularity of the men at the head of the meeting for its success.

This company has successfully devised apparatus by means of which (without the least impairing the efficiency of transmission) two or more subscribers' stations may be operated on the same line or circuit and be enabled to signal the central office without disturbing each other. This improvement relieves "party-line" service of its principal annoyance and makes it popular with a very large class of telephone users. In offering this class of service for either grounded or metallic circuits, we are aiming to bring that which is of the highest grade within the satisfactory reach of those whose requirements for telephone service are but limited, and to make it cost to them materially less than the regular rates charged for "independent-line" service.
